Wheat was a bull market up to 12 o'clock, when it was a bear one to 1 o'clock. The Canadian wheat was strong, Liverpool and Portland, with exporters everywhere reporting an excellent demand for red winter. There was an unusual demand of that story, so influential in the marketing of the wheat that the price of the reds had reduced its estimate of the continental export requirements. There were clearances of over 6,000 tons, making the total for five days the largest on record. There was a sale of 40,000 bushels of red winter wheat at 100¢, and a sale of 40,000 bushels of red 40,000 bushels of red winter wheat sold to Manchester.
